Company Profile Lakota Water Company is a full-service rainwater collection company specializing and service of both residential and commercial rainwater collection systems. We install systems as small as 2,500 gallons. For rainbarrel collection, please visit Rainbarrelguide.com. The company was incorporated in 2002 as a Texas Corporation, and is based in Dripping Springs, Texas. Degreed and certified, our expert staff collectively offer over 30 years of water and engineering experience to a booming Central Texas population with increasing potable and nonpotable water needs. Memberships include the Better Business Bureau, as well as the American Rainwater Catchment Systems Association (ARCOSA). The company has serviced or installed rainwater harvesting systems all across Central Texas including Lampasas, Temple, Llano, Lago Vista, Dripping Springs, Austin, Boerne, Johnson City, Fredericksburg, Elgin, San Antonio, Wimberley, San Marcos, Bastrop, Red Rock, Blanco, Driftwood, Waco and Marble Falls.
